[NTW] [HIGHLIGHT/FOUNDATION FUNDING] Title: Limited Submission; Burroughs Wellcome Fund
Investigators in the Pathogenesis of Infectious Disease;
Sponsor: Burroughs Wellcome Fund;
Deadline(s): WHEN: INTERNAL PROPOSAL DUE – 9:00 a.m. on Monday, October 6, 2014; Sponsor Proposal due – November 3, 2014 by 4:00 p.m., Eastern Time;
Contact: For additional information, please contact: Greg Culler at gcc19@columbia.edu or 212-854-6285.; Greg Culler; Associate Director | Research Initiatives; Columbia Research; Office of the Executive Vice President for Research; Columbia University in the City of New York; 102 Low Library, MC 4312; 535 West 116th Street; New York, New York 10027; Phone: (212) 854-6285; Email: gcc19@columbia.edu;
Additional Information: WHAT: The Investigators in the Pathogenesis of Infectious Disease program provides opportunities for accomplished assistant professors to bring multidisciplinary approaches to the study of human infectious diseases. Five-year awards support the study of pathogenesis, with a focus on the interplay between human and microbial biology, shedding light on how human and microbial systems are affected by their encounters. The awards are intended to give recipients the freedom and flexibility to pursue new avenues of inquiry and higher-risk research projects that hold potential for significantly advancing the biochemical, pharmacological, immunological, and molecular biological understanding of how microbes and the human body interact. This award provides $500,000 over a period of five years. No more than $20,000 of the award may be used annually for the grantee’s salary support, including fringe benefits. Indirect costs may not be charged against the awards. Grantees must devote at least 75 percent of their time to research-related activities (including those funded by other sources); Burroughs Wellcome Fund created an eligibility quiz. All potential applicants are strongly encouraged to take this quiz. http://www.bwfund.org/pages/99/Eligibility/.
PROGRAM EMPHASIS: The program emphasizes research that opens up unexplored areas. Research on under-studied infectious diseases, including pathogenic fungi, protozoan and metazoan diseases, and emerging infections is especially of interest. In addition, excellent animal models of human disease, including work done in veterinary research settings, are within the program’s scope. Interdisciplinary approaches are encouraged. ; Cell/Pathogen interactions—studies of host responses at the cell surface, cell signaling in response to infection, microbial persistence in host cells, and other work; Host/Pathogen interactions—studies of how host genetics influences resistance and susceptibility to infection, innate and adaptive immune responses to microbes, pathogen modulation of the immune system, and other work; Novel routes to disease causation—studies of the role of infectious agents in the etiology of chronic, autoimmune, and immunologic diseases, and other work; WHO: The following eligibility terms apply: (1) Candidates must have an M.D., D.V.M., or Ph.D. degree. BWF particularly encourages human health-relevant applications from veterinary scientists.; (2) Candidates must have an established record of independent research and hold a tenure-track position as an assistant professor (at the time of application); (a) Most awardees have demonstrated independence by publishing a significant body of work beyond that related to their postdoctoral advisors. It is not necessary to have an R01 to apply, but successful applicants have frequently held independent K- or R-series NIH grants or early career grants from other funders. Researchers who have not demonstrated this level of independence should not apply.; (3) Candidates must be citizens or permanent residents of the United States or Canada at the time of application.; WHEN: INTERNAL PROPOSAL DUE – 9:00 a.m. on Monday, October 6, 2014; Sponsor Proposal due – November 3, 2014 by 4:00 p.m., Eastern Time; HOW: The internal proposal must include the following six components. (1) Cover page listing the applicant’s title, department, contact information, residence status and the title of the proposed research project; (2) Biographical Sketch (NIH 4-page format); (3) Lay Scientific Abstract (one-page limit); Describe the proposed work in a way that is understandable to a multidisciplinary group of scientific reviewers.; (4) Research Plan – In no more than five (5) pages (including figures, tables, graphs, and images), describe your planned research. Use standard 11- or 12-point font for the text, and no smaller than 9- or 10-point font for the figures, legends and tables. Text must be single-spaced with one-half inch margins. It should be a complete, cohesive, and coherent scientific document that is easy to read. In the order listed below, your plan should describe: (a) Specific aims; (b) Background and significance; (c) Experimental methods and procedures; (d) Long term objectives; (5) Letter of Recommendation from Department Chairperson*; The letter should describe the focus and direction of the institution's research programs that are relevant to the proposed work and discuss how the applicant's research fits into the organization. The letter should also describe all program and institutional support that will be provided for the candidate, including such things as salary support, mentoring for career development, and protection of 75 percent of the grantee's time for research.; (6) List of current and pending grants; *Important: Please note that the applicants selected through the internal competition will be required to submit an additional three letters of reference to Burroughs Wellcome. See - http://www.bwfund.org/pages/474/PATH-sections-of-the-proposal/; Please combine all parts of the internal proposal into one pdf file and email to gcc19@columbia.edu with a cc: to mb3952@columbia.edu by 9:00 a.m. on Monday, October 6, 2014. The subject heading of the email should be “2015 BWF-PATH.”; For detailed information regarding eligibility and application guidelines, please read the Request for Proposals by linking to this URL: http://www.bwfund.org/grant-programs/infectious-diseases/investigators-pathogenesis-infectious-disease; For additional information, please contact: Greg Culler at gcc19@columbia.edu or 212-854-6285.; Greg Culler; Associate Director | Research Initiatives; Columbia Research; Office of the Executive Vice President for Research; Columbia University in the City of New York; 102 Low Library, MC 4312; 535 West 116th Street; New York, New York 10027; Phone: (212) 854-6285; Email: gcc19@columbia.edu;

OBJECTIVES: The Burroughs Wellcome Fund Preterm Birth Initiative was created to increase the understanding of the biological mechanisms underlying parturition and spontaneous preterm birth. This initiative is designed to bring together a diverse interdisciplinary group with expertise in genetics/genomics, immunology, microbiology, and proteomics along with the more traditional areas of parturition research such as maternal fetal medicine, obstetrics, and pediatrics to address the scientific issues related to preterm birth. The formation of new connections between reproductive scientists and investigators who are involved in other areas will give preterm birth research a fresh and unique look.

ELIGIBILITY: Proposals must be submitted from degree-granting institutions in the United States or Canada. The principal investigator must have a faculty appointment at a degree-granting institution in the U.S. or Canada. Researchers working at research institutes, national laboratories, within the federal government, or outside of North America may be partners or collaborators but all funding must be channeled through the U.S. or Canadian degree-granting institution of the principal investigator. Proposals should address the biomedical causes and mechanisms underlying (preterm) parturition including but not limited to peri-implantational events, placentation, fetal determinants, fetal-maternal immune responses, biological basis for racial-ethnic disparities, mechanisms relating preterm birth to other adverse pregnancy outcomes, biology of normal labor, etc. Proposals seeking to identify biomarkers predicting preterm birth are welcome. Proposals must have an interdisciplinary approach. One member of the team must have training and expertise outside the traditional areas of reproductive science. Proposals that cross institutional boundaries (partnerships between multiple universities or collaborations within larger universities) are encouraged.

FUNDING: Up to five (5) research grants will be awarded. Research grants will provide up to $600,000 over a four-year period ($150,000 per year) beginning June 1, 2015.

Special Emphasis Areas: For the 2014-2015 cycle, proposals in the following areas are of particular interest and will receive special consideration. These can include pre-clinical, clinical, and/or correlative scientific studies: --Early stage melanoma biomarkers: Identifying biomarkers of risk and markers of long term outcomes for improved clinical management and to speed the development of adjuvant therapies for patients with Stage I - III melanoma. --Treatment-related biomarkers: Identifying biomarkers predictive of clinical outcomes of treatment regimens, both approved and investigational, which may include studies of the tumor microenvironment, invasion, and metastasis and the study of “exceptional cases”. Investigational studies of mechanisms underlying treatment-related side effects are also of interest. --Combination therapies: Undertaking studies that define logical and optimal combination therapies to improve outcomes and curtail resistance to current and emerging therapies. --New targets: Identifying and characterizing new targets and treatment modalities for melanomas that are not well-managed by existing or emerging therapies (e.g., brain metastases), including drivers of tumor invasion and metastasis in melanoma broadly and in melanoma sub-types. ; ELIGIBILITY: Principal Investigators (PIs) must hold a faculty appointment at an academic research institution within or outside the United States at the level of Assistant Professor (or equivalent) or above. Investigators need not be specifically trained in melanoma research; however, they should be working in an environment capable of conducting high quality, high impact melanoma research. Fellows or others who are in training or support positions are not eligible to apply. However, applications from those who have secured an independent full-time faculty position commencing by July 1, 2015 will be considered; in this case, a letter from an institutional official or department chairperson confirming the planned date of faculty appointment is required at the time of application. Any applicant not expected to hold an Assistant Professor position (e.g., Instructor or other title) by July 1, 2015 must contact MRA to confirm eligibility prior to submitting a proposal. ; FUNDING: Investigators within four years of their first academic faculty appointment will be provided $75,000 per year for three years to accomplish innovative, early concept scientific projects. ; KEYWORDS: Cancer / Carcinogenesis; Biochemical Markers; Biological Markers; Therapy Evaluation; Skin Cancer; Melanoma;

The sponsors invites applications proposing to study HIV infection, HIV-associated conditions, HIV treatment, and/or biobehavioral or social factors associated with HIV/AIDS in the context of aging and / or in older adults. Research approaches of interest include clinical translational, observational, and intervention studies in domestic and international settings. This program will use the NIH Exploratory/Developmental (R21) grant mechanism.; Established Date: 04/25/2012; Follow-Up Date: 06/01/2015; Review Date: 09/17/2014; Deadline Ind: Receipt; Deadline Open: No; *See Restrictions for further information.; DEADLINE NOTE: The deadlines for receipt of full applications are: December 9, 2014; and April 7, 2015, by 5:00 PM local time of applicant organization. This FOA will expire on April 8, 2015.; Award Type(s): Research Grants/R & D; Citizenship/Country of Applying Institution: Any/No Restrictions; Locations Tenable: Any/No Restrictions; Appl Type(s): Colleges/Universities; Faculty Member; For-Profit; HBCU; Hospital; Indian tribes/governing orgs.; laboratory; minority institution/organization; non-profit; organizations--community/soc. serv.; researcher/investigator; research institutions/organizations; small business; tax-exempt; target group(s): none; funding limit: $275,000 maximum; duration: 2 year(s); indirect costs: exempt; cost sharing: no; sponsor type: none; geo. restricted: no restrictions; cfda#: 99.999; objectives: the goal of this announcement is to invite research grant applications studying hiv infection, hiv-associated conditions, hiv treatment, and/or biobehavioral or social factors associated with hiv/aids in the context of aging and/or in older adults. research approaches of interest include clinical translational, observational, and intervention studies in domestic and international settings. general topic areas appropriate for this foa include, but are not limited to the following: cellular and molecular mechanisms of hiv in aging; hana conditions / co-morbidities; biomarkers or clinical indices of hiv-associated pathology; hiv-associated neurocognitive disorders (hand); interventions; frailty / vulnerability; social, behavioral, and mental health studies. in addition to the general topic areas of interest above, additional areas of scientific interest specific to participating institutes and centers are detailed below. nci as a participating institute seeks to foster research studies to help understand how aging in the presence of chronic hiv infection affects the risk, spectrum and biology of cancer (aids-defining and non-aids-defining cancers). recent data indicates an increase in the non-aids-defining cancers that is driven to a large extent by the growth and aging of the hiv/aids population. aging is by itself a key factor promoting the development of many cancers, and there is a lack of data on the interplay between aging, hiv, long-term exposure to antiretroviral drugs, and other factors promoting cancer development in the aging population. in addition, there is little understanding of the interplay between host factors and immune perturbations that occur in aging and how these interactions affect cancers that are mostly seen in older people (e.g., kaposi’s sarcoma and merkel cell carcinoma). nhlbi supports basic, clinical, and translational research on the prevention and treatment of heart, lung, blood, and sleep disorders. as the population of individuals living with hiv/aids ages, the interplay of the viral infection, antiretroviral therapies, and complicating chronic conditions becomes increasingly important. for this initiative, nhlbi is interested in clinical translational, observational, or interventional studies on topics. niams is interested in studies that investigate the effects of hiv infection and/or antiretroviral therapy on musculoskeletal and skin tissues and diseases. proposed research should focus on chronic diseases and conditions in older adults and/or arising in the context of long term hiv infection and/or antiretroviral therapy. mechanistic ancillary studies that leverage existing hiv/aids cohorts and clinical trials are encouraged. nichd is interested in studies of reproductive aging among hiv-infected women, the interaction of reproductive aging and menopause with other hiv-associated complications such as neurocognitive decline and bone changes, behavioral aspects of aging with hiv, impact of stigma, and hiv prevention for aging women. the reproductive tract changes (immunologic, microbiologic, epithelial, etc.) and behavioral changes during and after menopause may increase susceptibility to hiv infection, and older women may not be aware of hiv risk. novel prevention strategies may be required for older women. in addition, systemic changes with loss of reproductive hormones may alter immune responses and increase development of complications such as osteoporosis which are more common among persons with hiv infection. nida is interested in understanding the intersection of aging, hiv/aids, and the chronic use and abuse of addictive substances, including nicotine, marijuana, narcotics, psychostimulants, prescription drugs, and polysubstance use. nimh division of aids research (dar) supports research in hiv and aging with special focus on behavioral/psychosocial studies and on basic and clinical neuroaids studies. nimh is interested in research studies in hiv/aging in the following areas: (1) prevention research in hiv-at risk; (2) optimal treatment of hiv-infected individuals; (3) hiv cns pathophysiological mechanisms; (4) neuropsychiatric comorbidities. with the successes of effective antiretroviral treatment, hiv-positive patients are living longer, but are at greater risk of developing previously... unrecognized long-term complications of HIV infection. Comorbidities are now common in persons on antiretroviral therapy, and as the HIV+ population ages, a greater understanding is needed about the causes and effective management for these comorbidities. Neuropsychiatric comorbidities and others not directly referable to HIV have attracted increased importance for the behavioral and NeuroAIDS research agendas of DAR because they constitute a disease burden equivalent to or greater than HIV-related co-morbidities. Knowledge is critical in the areas enumerated above and in a number of other related areas (e.g., normal aging processes; diseases associated with aging; relevant moderators and mediators; methodologic improvements in subpopulation sampling and behavioral phenotypes). This will provide the foundation for a program of intervention research for HIV/aging which can identify effective prevention or treatment strategies. We encourage longitudinal strategies to help differentiate between the subpopulations of aging, assess developmental trajectories and provide causal explanations. Research designs should go beyond using chronological age alone because HIV, like the process of aging, is shaped more by the individual’s social, physical, cultural, and economic setting than by biological senescence. NINDS is interested in fostering innovative basic, translational and clinical research on the effects of chronic HIV infection, co-morbidities, and aging on the central nervous system. Research to define and elucidate novel mechanisms of pathogenesis that are driving neurocognitive decline at the intersection of HIV-associated neurodegenerative processes, aging-associated central nervous system disease, chronic HAART treatment effects, and host susceptibility factors are highly encouraged. ; ELIGIBILITY: Eligible applicants are: for-profit or non-profit organizations; public/State-controlled institutions of higher education; private institutions of higher education; units of State and local governments; units of State and local Tribal government; Hispanic-serving institutions; Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs); Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian Serving Institutions; Tribally Controlled Colleges and Universities (TCCUs); Small Business; eligible agencies of the Federal government; domestic or foreign institutions/organizations; and faith-based or community-based organizations. More than one PD/PI, or multiple PDs/PIs, may be designated on the application for projects that require a “team science” approach that clearly does not fit the single-PD/PI model. ; FUNDING: This program will use the NIH Exploratory/Developmental (R21) grant mechanism. Applications submitted in response to this announcement must be submitted electronically through Grants.gov, using the SF424 Research and Related (R&R) forms and SF424 (R&R) Application Guide. The total project period for an application submitted in response to this funding opportunity may not exceed two years. Direct costs are limited to $275,000 over the two years of the R21 award, with no more than $200,000 in direct costs allowed in any single year. Because the nature and scope of the proposed research will vary from application to application, it is anticipated that the size and duration of each award will also vary. F&A costs requested by consortium participants are not included in the direct cost limitation. This FOA will expire on April 8, 2015.; Award Type(s): Research Grants/R & D; Citizenship/Country of Applying Institution: Any/No Restrictions; Locations Tenable: Any/No Restrictions; Appl Type(s): Colleges/Universities; Faculty Member; For-Profit: HBCU; Hospital; Indian Tribes/Governing Orgs.; Laboratory; Minority Institution/Organization; Non-Profit; Organizations--Community/Soc. Serv.; Research / Investigator; Research Institutions/Organizations; Small Business; Tax-exempt; Target Group(s): NONE; Funding Limit: $0 NOT PROV; Duration: 5 YEAR(s); Indirect Costs: Unspecified; Cost Sharing: No; Sponsor Type: NONE; Geo. Restricted: NO RESTRICTIONS; CFDA#: 99.999; The goal of this announcement is to invite research grant applications studying HIV infection, HIV-associated conditions, HIV treatment, and/or biobehavioral or social factors associated with HIV/AIDS in the context of aging and/or in older adults. Research approaches of interest include clinical translational, observational, and intervention studies in domestic and international settings. General topic areas appropriate for this FOA include, but are not limited to the following: Cellular and molecular mechanisms of HIV in aging; HANA Conditions / Co-morbidities; Biomarkers or clinical indices of HIV-associated pathology; HIV-Associated Neurocognitive Disorders (HAND); Interventions; Frailty / Vulnerability; Social, behavioral, and mental health studies. In addition to the general topic areas of interest above, additional areas of scientific interest specific to participating Institutes and Centers are detailed below. NCI as a participating institute seeks to foster research studies to help understand how aging in the presence of chronic HIV infection affects the risk, spectrum and biology of cancer (AIDS-defining and non-AIDS-defining cancers). Recent data indicates an increase in the non-AIDS-defining cancers that is driven to a large extent by the growth and aging of the HIV/AIDS population. Aging is by itself a key factor promoting the development of many cancers, and there is a lack of data on the interplay between aging, HIV, long-term exposure to antiretroviral drugs, and other factors promoting cancer development in the aging population. In addition, there is little understanding of the interplay between host factors and immune perturbations that occur in aging and how these interactions affect cancers that are mostly seen in older people (e.g., Kaposi's sarcoma and Merkel cell carcinoma). NCCAM has an interest in examination of mind/body interventions. NHLBI supports basic, clinical, and translational research on the prevention and treatment of heart, lung, blood, and sleep disorders. As the population of individuals living with HIV/AIDS ages, the interplay of the viral infection, antiretroviral therapies, and complicating chronic conditions becomes increasingly important. For this initiative, NHLBI is interested in clinical translational, observational, or intervention studies on topics. NIAMS is interested in studies that investigate the effects of HIV infection and/or antiretroviral therapy on musculoskeletal and skin tissues and diseases.
Proposed research should focus on chronic diseases and conditions in older adults and/or arising in the context of long term HIV infection and/or antiretroviral therapy. Mechanistic ancillary studies that leverage existing HIV/AIDS cohorts and clinical trials are encouraged. NICHD is interested in studies of reproductive aging among HIV-infected women, the interaction of reproductive aging and menopause with other HIV-associated complications such as neurocognitive decline and bone changes, behavioral aspects of aging with HIV, impact of stigma, and HIV prevention for aging women. The reproductive tract changes (immunologic, microbiologic, epithelial, etc.) and behavioral changes during and after menopause may increase susceptibility to HIV infection, and older women may not be aware of HIV risk. Novel prevention strategies may be required for older women. In addition, systemic changes with loss of reproductive hormones may alter immune responses and increase development of complications such as osteoporosis which are more common among persons with HIV infection. NIDA is interested in understanding the intersection of aging, HIV/AIDS, and the chronic use and abuse of addictive Substances, including nicotine, marijuana, narcotics, psychostimulants, prescription drugs, and polysubstance use. NIMH Division of AIDS Research (DAR) supports research in HIV and aging with special focus on behavioral/psychosocial studies and on basic and clinical NeuroAIDS studies. NIMH is interested in research studies in HIV/aging in the following areas: (1) prevention research in HIV-at risk; (2) optimal treatment of HIV-infected individuals; (3) HIV CNS pathophysiological mechanisms; (4) neuropsychiatric comorbidities. With the successes of effective antiretroviral treatment, HIV-positive patients are living longer, but are at greater risk of developing previously unrecognized long-term complications of HIV infection. Comorbidities are now common in persons on antiretroviral therapy, and as the HIV+ population ages, a greater understanding is needed about the causes and effective management for these comorbidities. Neuropsychiatric comorbidities and others not directly referable to HIV have attracted increased importance for the behavioral and NeuroAIDS research agendas of DAR because they constitute a disease burden equivalent to or greater than HIV-related co-morbidities. Knowledge is critical in the areas enumerated above and in a number of other related areas (e.g., normal aging processes; diseases associated with aging; relevant moderators and mediators; methodologic improvements in subpopulation sampling and behavioral phenotypes). This will provide the foundation for a program of intervention research for HIV/aging which can identify effective prevention or treatment strategies. We encourage longitudinal strategies to help differentiate between the subpopulations of aging, assess developmental trajectories and provide causal explanations. Research designs should go beyond using chronological age alone because HIV, like the process of aging, is shaped more by the individual’s social, physical, cultural, and economic setting than by biological senescence. NINDS is interested in fostering innovative basic, translational and clinical research on the effects of chronic HIV infection, co-morbidities, and aging on the central nervous system. Research to define and elucidate novel mechanisms of pathogenesis that are driving neurocognitive decline at the intersection of HIV-associated neurodegenerative processes, aging-associated central nervous system disease, chronic HAART treatment effects, and host susceptibility factors are highly encouraged. ; ELIGIBILITY: Eligible applicants are: for-profit or non-profit organizations; public/State-controlled institutions of higher education; private institutions of higher education; units of State and local governments; units of State and local Tribal government; Hispanic-serving institutions; Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs); Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian Serving Institutions; Tribally Controlled Colleges and Universities (TCCUs); Small Business; eligible agencies of the Federal government; domestic or foreign institutions/organizations; and faith-based or community-based organizations. More than one PD/PI, or multiple PDs/PIs, may be designated on the application for projects that require a "team science" approach that clearly does not fit the single-PD/PI model. ; FUNDING: This program will use the NIH Research Project (R01) award mechanism. Applications submitted in response to this announcement must be submitted electronically through Grants.gov, using the SF424 Research and Related (R&R) forms and SF424 (R&R) Application Guide. Applicants may request up to five years of support for R01 awards with costs appropriately tailored to the proposed work. No limit is set on the costs requested by R01 applicants. Because the nature and scope of the proposed research will vary from application to application, it is anticipated that the size and duration of each award will also vary. F&A costs requested by consortium participants are not included in the direct cost limitation. Additional Information: SYNOPSIS: This initiative is intended to develop new cohorts or build on existing cohorts which include substance using individuals who are HIV positive or at risk for infection. The applications in response to this FOA may include specific research projects that focus on the intersection of HIV/AIDS and substance use, and should serve as a platform for a wide range of research efforts by the investigator, collaborators, and other researchers utilizing data and/or specimens collected from these studies as part of independent, investigator-initiated research grants. Research aims included in submitted applications may be broad or narrow, given the diverse topics of interest to this FOA, such as identifying the determinants of susceptibility or resistance to infection; HIV prevention; barriers to optimal HIV care; the effects of multiple co-morbidities and co-infections, such as HBV and HCV; disease progression and response to both substance abuse and HIV treatment; the impact of aging; factors affecting adherence to antiretroviral treatment and other pharmacotherapeutic and behavioral interventions; and understanding determinants and consequences of comprehensive care for chronic comorbid diseases, substance abuse, and mental health issues. Populations of particular interest may include injection and non-injection substance users, sexual minorities (including men who have sex with men (MSM)), racial and ethnic minorities women, youth/adolescents, and high-risk heterosexual couples.; Established Date: 06/29/2012; Follow-Up Date: 02/01/2015; Review Date: 09/18/2014; Deadline Ind: Receipt; Deadline Open: No; *See Restrictions for further information. ; DEADLINE NOTE: Letters of Intent are due by November 11, 2014. Full applications are due by December 11, 2014 by 5:00 PM local time of the applicant organization. This FOA will expire on December 12, 2014.; Award Type(s): Requests For Applications (NIH); Research Grants/R & D; Citizenship/Country of Applying Institution: Any/No Restrictions; Locations Tenable: Any/No Restrictions; Appl Type(s): Colleges/Universities; Faculty Member; For-Profit; HBCU; Hospital; Indian Tribes/Governing Orgs.; Laboratory; Minority Institution/Organization; Non-Profit;
OBJECTIVES: The National Institute on Drug Abuse encourages data harmonization to increase comparability, collaboration, and scientific yield of research funded under this FOA. The capacity of cohort studies to address both broad and specific research questions that take into account the heterogeneity among HIV-infected and at-risk individuals, the diversity of disease severity, patterns and history of substance use, comorbidities, and demographic variables, would be greatly enhanced by harmonization using a common set of core measures. Common elements for interval data collection provide opportunities for multiple cohorts addressing a variety of issues to collaborate on priority questions of mutual interest which a single cohort may not be able to address. Awardees funded under this FOA will be expected to participate in collaborative activities, including annual meetings to determine how to best to harmonize data. Applications in response to this FOA should include funds for investigators to attend an annual meeting in Washington, D.C. as part of the budget request. The application should address the following key points: 1. A rationale and purpose for the proposed new cohort generation or the continuation or expansion of an existing cohort involving HIV and substance abuse, including characteristics of the population to be studied; 2. Characterization of substance use in the population to be studied, such as specific drugs used, form of administration, level and history of use, and/or changing patterns over time including initiation; 3. Measurement, technologic, and/or methodologic approaches for the design, conduct and analyses of cohort studies of HIV/AIDS and substance use, including discussion of cohort outreach and retention approaches to ensure long-term follow-up of participants; 4. Identification and justification of the priority research domains for the cohort study and how the study aims will be achieved; 5. Identification of high priority research questions the investigator proposes to be explored through collaboration with other investigators, including those involved in other cohort studies. This may include but is not limited to developing standardized assessments and outcome measures that support comparative studies among substance-using populations, pooling of data across cohorts, and/or identification of complex relationships such as gene-gene and gene-environment interactions; 6. Discussion of proposed data elements, such as clinical data, biologic specimens, socio-behavioral data, or treatment variables that will support the study aims, and a schedule for collection of these elements for prospective intervals. In addition, the discussion should address the potential of the proposed data elements to inform a common or shared platform for priority research collaborations with other research studies, including existing or future cohorts, as well as a plan for sharing data and materials with other investigators.; ELIGIBILITY: Eligible applicants are: for-profit or non-profit organizations; public/State-controlled institutions of higher education; private institutions of higher education; units of State and local governments; units of State and local Tribal government; Hispanic-serving institutions; Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs); Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian Serving Institutions; Tribally Controlled Colleges and Universities (TCCUs); Small Business; eligible agencies of the Federal government; domestic or foreign institutions/organizations; and faith-based or community-based organizations. More than one PD/PI, or multiple PDs/PIs, may be designated on the application for projects that require a “team science” approach that clearly does not fit the single-PD/PI model.; FUNDING: The number of awards is contingent upon NIH appropriations, and the submission of a sufficient number of meritorious applications. Applications may be submitted with a requested budget not to exceed $2,000,000 total (direct + indirect) costs in any year. A project duration of up to five years may be requested. Additional Information: SYNOPSIS: National Cancer Institute (NCI) invites applications for pre-clinical and clinical studies that will describe the variability in the bacterial metabolites production and their contribution to cancer prevention/promotion among various racial and ethnic groups. Due to inconsistent responses to dietary interventions, this research is necessary to identify who might benefit from specific dietary recommendation and who might be placed at risk. It is important to identify the factors that contribute to differences in response to foods and food components and to identify early markers that will identify those who will receive maximum benefits from dietary change. As these are complex questions this program will facilitate interdisciplinary collaborations among scientists engaged in research in cancer prevention and microbiology, nutrition, cancer cell biology, and cancer disparities. To achieve this goal all applications are encouraged to include multiple Program Director(s)/Principal Investigator(s) with expertise in cancer biology, microbiology, nutrition, analytical chemistry or genetics. Investigations may use either clinical or preclinical approaches. All awardees are expected to attend an annual meeting with NIH personnel to report new findings and coordinate the exchange of new information and methodologies with interested colleagues and to promote collaboration. This FOA will utilize the NIH U01 cooperative agreement mechanism.; Established Date: 05/27/2010; Follow-Up Date: 08/01/2015; Review Date: 09/17/2014; Deadline Ind: Receipt; Deadline Open: No; See Restrictions for further information.; DEADLINE NOTE: The deadline for receipt of optional letters of intent is October 14 annually. Additional Information: This is to clarify the requirement for NIH eRA Commons IDs, as per notice NOT-OD-13-097. The Commons IDs, and complete Personal Profiles, are required for postdocs, graduate and undergraduate students when: () They have participated at least one person month on an NIH award, regardless if they were paid from the grant; and (*) Their participation is required to be included in Participants Section (D.1) in the Research Performance Progress Report (RPPR) – (†) note some select NIH grant mechanisms may be exempt from reporting in this section. (‡) The RPPR Instruction Guide contains Supplemental Instructions for Specific Grant Types (such as training awards and multi-project awards), which can be found at:

TIP – when preparing your RPPR, click “Check for Errors” prior to routing the report to your SPA Project Officer. You will be alerted of missing eRA Commons IDs and incomplete profiles. This is the best time to contact SPA-eBiz to request IDs, or to alert individuals to complete their Commons profiles.; If you are requesting an eRA Commons ID from SPA-eBiz@columbia.edu, please include the following information with your request: () Full Name; () UNI; () Email address; ()

Additional Information: As we get closer to October 2014, I wanted to remind investigators and administrators of the new NIH progress reporting requirement regarding eRA Commons IDs. Postdocs, graduate and undergraduate students supported on NIH awards must have eRA Commons IDs, with complete eRA Commons Personal Profiles. Beginning with NIH progress reports due October 2014, NIH will not accept progress reports that have missing eRA Commons IDs and incomplete profiles. As you are aware, if NIH rejects a progress reports, that could delay issuance of the next year’s funding.; Complete eRA Commons profiles are just as important as the ID itself. NIH can reject the progress report if the following fields are not complete in the profiles: date of birth, gender, race, ethnicity, disabilities, US citizenship status and country of citizenship. Some fields have “I Do Not Wish to Provide” as one of the acceptable responses. For those who have completed undergraduate or graduate degrees (graduate students and postdoctoral researchers), the highest educational degree, the degree date, and the institution where it was earned.
also should be completed. Tutorials on the eRA Commons Personal Profile can be found at eRA Commons Manage Personal Profile. If you have graduate and undergraduate students supported on NIH grants who do not have eRA Commons IDs, please have them request an eRA Commons account from SPA at SPA-eBiz@columbia.edu. Finally, the Research Performance Progress Report (RPPR) format will be required for all Type 5 non-SNAP progress reports beginning October 17th, 2014 (the paper PHS 2590 forms are being phased out). See NOT-OD-14-092. If you are not yet familiar with the RPPR format, resources are available at http://grants.nih.gov/grants/rppr/. Additional Information: Formula for Innovation: People + Ideas + Time: Posted on July 17, 2014 by Sally Rockey and Francis Collins; In these times of tight budgets and rapidly evolving science, we must consider new ways to invest biomedical research dollars to achieve maximum impact—to turn scientific discoveries into better health as swiftly as possible. We do this by thinking strategically about the areas of research that we support, as well as the process by which we fund that research. …. We often hear from investigators at all career stages that they spend a significant portion of their careers writing grant applications, consuming precious time that could otherwise be spent conducting research. …. Dear PIs and Administrators, If you are planning to prepare and submit an NIH multi-project application over the next several months, please let me know. Examples of multi-project grant mechanisms include, but are not limited to, P01, P30, P50, and U19. All multi-project Funding Opportunity Announcements (FOAs) now require proposals to be submitted electronically using ASSIST (Application Submission System and Interface for Submission Tracking). For a listing of all multi-project FOAs, go to http://grants.nih.gov/searchGuide/ComplexOnly.cfm. If you plan to submit a multi-project application in the coming months, please contact me and your SPA Project Officer and we will schedule a time to meet to provide you with training and guidance. The Columbia University Medical Center IRB Office has a standing “IRB Consultation Hour”. This service provides an opportunity for researchers to stop in at the IRB office and meet with an IRB professional to discuss regulatory, policy, and procedural questions. The sessions are scheduled for every Tuesday from 10 am to 11 am. No appointment is necessary. The IRB office is located at 154 Haven Avenue, 1st Floor. Attendees should sign in at the IRB receptionist desk, and will meet with IRB staff in the order of arrival. If situations warrant, individual consultations may be limited to 15 minutes. Important Note: If you have questions about a protocol that has already been submitted to the IRB, please contact the staff members who administer the IRB to which the protocol is assigned rather than bringing those questions to a Consultation Hours session. Staff contact information may be obtained on the IRB website: http://www.cumc.columbia.edu/dept/irb/ Researchers may also call in during these times, to the IRB main number, for consultation: 212.305.5883.

Additional Information: Dear Colleagues: The Office of the Executive Vice President of Research (EVPR), including the Office of Postdoctoral Affairs, and the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (GSAS) are pleased to announce the introduction of an individual development plan (IDP) program for National Institutes of Health (NIH)-funded graduate students and postdoctoral researchers (postdocs). An IDP consists of a self-assessment of skills, interests and values that guides the development of short and long term plans to achieve career goals. In 2012, the NIH published a task force report on the current state of the biomedical workforce which found, among other things, that universities need to better prepare biomedical graduate students and postdocs for a broad range of career opportunities beyond academia. As one of a number of initiatives designed to address the recommendations of the task force, the NIH issued a policy, released on July 23, 2013 and revised on August 4, 2014 (http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/notice-files/NOT-OD-14-113.html), that does not require, but strongly encourages recipients of NIH awards to develop and use IDPs for graduate students and postdocs supported by the NIH. In addition, the revised policy provides that, beginning on October 1, 2014, annual progress reports relating to NIH awards must include a description of whether or not the institution uses IDPs and how they are employed to help manage the training and career development of graduate students and postdocs associated with such awards. The University’s IDP program will begin later this month and will include seminars on topics relating to the development of an IDP. Optional workshops will assist participants in completing an IDP. Career panels and networking events will be held to offer opportunities for participants to learn more about potential career options and the skills and experiences needed to gain employment in a wide array of fields. Complete IDP program details, including registration information, can be found at https://www2.gsas.columbia.edu/idp. Faculty members should strongly encourage their NIH- funded graduate student and postdocs to register and participate in the IDP program. A description of the Columbia IDP program to be utilized in progress reports can be found at https://www2.gsas.columbia.edu/idp/node/3#summary. Please contact Rory Flinn (rf2531@columbia.edu), Director of the Office of Postdoctoral Affairs, with any questions about the program.

Link(s): eRA Commons Manage Personal Profile; http://era.nih.gov/reg_accounts/manage_personal_profile.cfm;
Additional Information: Complete Profiles Required for Students and Postdocs; As we get closer to October 2014, I wanted to remind investigators and administrators of the new NIH progress reporting requirement regarding eRA Commons IDs. Postdocs, graduate and undergraduate students supported on NIH awards must have eRA Commons IDs, with complete eRA Commons Personal Profiles. Beginning with NIH progress reports due October 2014, NIH will not accept progress reports that have missing eRA Commons IDs and incomplete profiles. As you are aware, if NIH rejects a progress report, that could delay issuance of the next year’s funding. Complete eRA Commons profiles are just as important as the ID itself. NIH can reject the progress report if the following fields are not complete in the profiles: date of birth, gender, race, ethnicity, disabilities, US citizenship status and country of citizenship. Some fields have “I Do Not Wish to Provide” as one of the acceptable responses. For those who have completed undergraduate or graduate degrees (graduate students and postdoctoral researchers), the highest educational degree, the degree date, and the institution where it was earned also should be completed. Tutorials on the eRA Commons Personal Profile can be found at eRA Commons Manage Personal Profile. If you have graduate and undergraduate students supported on NIH grants who do not have eRA Commons IDs, please have them request an eRA Commons account from SPA at SPA-eBiz@columbia.edu.

NIH eSUBMISSION ITEMS OF INTEREST

From Stephanie F. Scott, M.S., CRA; Communications and Outreach Director; Sponsored Projects Administration (SPA); “NIH eSubmission Items of Interest” (June 4, 2014) (see below). In particular, it addresses the new Biosketch Pilot program, tips on using non-standard characters in form fields, and the cover letter attachment.

Don’t Forget the eSubmission Basics: I had the privilege of spending some time last week with the eRA Commons Help Desk and posed the question - “If you could tell the applicant community one thing about application submission what would it be?” I was a bit surprised to hear the same key messages that we have been pushing for years. On the other hand, that’s why we consider them ‘the eSubmission basics’.

So, here’s a quick reminder…

- Watch out for form fields required by NIH that are not marked required on federal-wide forms (e.g. Credential for PD/Pis and Organization for all entries on R&R Sr/Key Person Profile form; primary site DUNS on Project/Performance Sites form).
- Use PDF format for all attachments. Follow PDF Guidelines.
- Submit early – days, not minutes – to allow time to correct unforeseen errors.
- Track your submission in eRA Commons. Email can be unreliable.
- Check your entire assembled application image in eRA Commons. If you can’t view it, we can’t review it!
- If federal system issues threaten your on-time submission you need to notify the help desk and follow the Guidelines for Applicants Experiencing System Issues.

Impact of Biosketch Pilot on Non-pilot Applications: Did you see in the NIH Guide (NOT-OD-14-091) or in Rock Talk (Changes to the Biosketch) that NIH is piloting a new biosketch format? The pilot directly impacts applicants applying to a few Funding Opportunity Announcements (FOAs) (e.g., RFA-NR-15-001), but there is an immediate indirect impact to all applicants as well. In order to accommodate the pilot applications, eRA has changed the way we systematically validate the biosketch page limit for all applications. Specifically, a warning will fire if you submit a 5 page biosketch and an error will fire if your biosketch is over 5 pages. Applicants to pilot FOAs can ignore the 5-page warning, but everyone else should take action or risk post-submission rejection of their applications. After your application moves forward to NIH staff, we will do a manual check of the biosketches in applications to FOAs not participating in the pilot. If your non-pilot FOA requires 4 pages, but you included 5 and ignored the warning, then your application may not be reviewed. Applicants must read and follow all FOA and application guide instructions – even those that aren’t enforced by electronic systems.

Non-standard Characters in Form Fields: Although NIH systems now support a broader character set including Greek and other non-standard characters, Grants.gov systems currently do not. When completing application form fields type content directly from your keyboard. Avoid cutting and pasting from Word and other word processors- they often convert your plain text to rich text (e.g. Word converts quotes to ‘smart quotes’ that curve towards the text between them and combines two dashes into one long em-dash.) Also, keep your text as simple as possible. The following characters are typically ‘safe’: letters, numbers, spaces, underscores, periods, dashes (not em-dashes), quotes (not smart quotes), parentheses, brackets, ampersands, tilde, exclamation points, commas, colons, semicolons, at signs, number signs, dollar signs, percent signs, plus signs, equal signs, and asterisks. Limit your use of fancier characters to the body of your PDF attachments.

Submitting Applications with more than 5 Budget Periods: Although NIH typically allows only 5 budget periods to be submitted with grant applications, from time to time you will come across a FOA that allows more than 5 budget periods. Most NIH FOAs include the R&R Budget form which only accommodates data collection for 5 budget periods leaving applicants wondering what to do with the rest of the data. Applicants have been forced to use a rather clunky ‘workaround’ that includes adding the additional budget period information in the budget justification. eRA has just added system support for Grants.gov’s R&R Budget 10YR form that will allow for the collection of up to 10 budget periods of data. Going forward, this form will be included with the few, special FOAs that allow more than 5 budget periods. The bulk of NIH FOAs will continue to use the standard R&R Budget form.

Transition to FORMS-C To Complete in August: If it seems like I’ve been talking about transitioning to FORMS-C for a year – I have. On May 30, 2013, we announced our first transition to updated application forms (FORMS-C) for application due dates on/after September 25, 2013 (NOT-OD-13-074). The Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) and Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) programs are our last remaining programs to use the older forms. These programs are scheduled to transition to FORMS-C for due dates on/after August 5, 2014 (NOT-OD-14-089) marking the end of a rather lengthy transition. Believe it or not, this summer my friends in policy will start pulling together requirements for the next OMB clearance of the PHS (agency-specific) forms used in our applications (they expire in August 2015). Before you know it we’ll be talking about ‘FORMS-D’ forms. For now, let’s celebrate getting through this one. Woo-hoo!

CYA: Cover Your Application - that’s what you thought I was talking about – right? NIH form packages no longer use a separate, agency-specific PHS Cover Letter form. The version of the SF424 (R&R) cover form included in FORMS-C packages has a new Cover Letter Attachment (item #21 at the very bottom of the form). If you plan to include a cover letter with your application – use this Cover Letter Attachment only! The eRA systems know to keep this attachment separate from your assembled application image and to limit access to it. If you attach it someplace else (e.g., Pre-application attachment on the SF424 (R&R) cover form, Other Attachments on the R&R Other Project Information form) it will become part of your assembled application image and will be visible to everyone with access to your application including reviewers.
[NIH-Investigators] Reminder-eRA Commons IDs and Complete Profiles Required for Students and Postdocs

This is a reminder that beginning October 2014, Research Performance Progress Reports (RPPRs) lacking an eRA Commons ID for graduate and undergraduate students will receive an error and the RPPR will not be accepted by the NIH without this information. RPPRs that are not accepted could delay issuance of Notice of Grant Awards. See full NIH notice at NOT-OD-13-097.

Currently, warnings appear in the eRA Commons screens to alert individuals identified as undergraduate students, graduate students, and postdoctoral researchers that the following fields should be completed in their eRA Commons profiles: date of birth, gender, race, ethnicity, disabilities, US citizenship status and country of citizenship. Some fields have “I Do Not Wish to Provide” as one of the acceptable responses. For those who have completed undergraduate or graduate degrees (graduate students and postdoctoral researchers), the highest educational degree, the degree date, and the institution where it was earned also should be completed. Beginning on October 1, 2014, those fields in the eRA Commons screens will be required for individuals identified in any of those three roles.

If you have graduate and undergraduate students supported on NIH grants who do not have eRA Commons IDs, please have them request an eRA Commons account from SPA at SPA-eBiz@columbia.edu. In addition, graduate and undergraduate students, and postdoctoral researchers should complete their Personal Profiles in the eRA Commons, ensuring all fields listed above are complete. Tutorials on the Personal Profile can be found at eRA Commons Manage Personal Profile.

RPPRs will be required for all Type 5 non-SNAP progress reports beginning October 17th, 2014 (the paper PHS 2590 forms are being phased out). See NOT-OD-14-092. If you are not yet familiar with the RPPR format, resources are available at http://grants.nih.gov/grants/rppr/. Therefore, if you have students supported on non-SNAP awards, now is the time to ensure they have eRA Commons profiles completed.

Please share this information with your students and postdocs who are supported on NIH grants. If you have any questions, you may contact me, or your assigned SPA Project Officer.

RPPR Required for Non-SNAP Progress Reports Beginning October 17, 2014

NIH currently requires use of the fed-wide progress reporting format — known as the RPPR (Research Performance Progress Report) — to submit progress reports for Streamlined Non-competing Award Process (SNAP), fellowship, and multi-year funded awards. In April we opened the RPPR for use for all Type 5 Non-SNAP progress reports in anticipation of an October 2014 requirement for RPPR use. Now, it’s official — all type 5 non-SNAP progress reports submitted on or after October 17, 2014 need to be submitted through the RPPR module of eRA Commons. … Continue reading →

NIH REVISED SUBMISSION RULES

NIH & AHRQ just released more clarifications on the new resubmission policy. In this announcement are clarifications on due dates, applicability, time limits, and the various options PIs have. See NOT-OD-14-082: http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/notice-files/NOT-OD-14-082.html: I know this revised policy is important to you and has many implications. Please feel free to me or your assigned Project Officer questions. I am following up with additional information on the important announcement I sent last week regarding NIH and AHRQ’s new resubmission policy (see below). NIH just posted extensive FAQs describing various scenarios when you may submit applications as ‘new’ that were previously submitted, resubmitted and not funded (including competing renewal applications that were not funded). Refer to the following resources and articles: FAQs: http://grants.nih.gov/grants/policy/resubmission_q&a.htm; The policy announcement: NOT-OD-14-074; A Change in Our Resubmission Policy – Rock Talk article explaining the reasons for the change; NIH Policy on Resubmission Applications; Science Magazine article: NIH to Relax ‘Two Strikes’ Grant Submission Policy; Deciding whether to submit an application as a resubmission or as a new submission can sometimes be complex. You may need to speak with an NIH Program Official or Program Director regarding your specific situation. Please feel free to ask me, or your SPA Project Officer, questions as they arise. Please read full announcement, NOT-OD-14-074 at http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/notice-files/NOT-OD-14-074.html Effective immediately, for NIH and AHRQ applications due after April 16, 2014, following an unsuccessful resubmission (A1) application, applicants may submit the same idea as a new (A0) application for the next appropriate due date. The NIH and AHRQ will not assess the similarity of the science in the new (A0) application to any previously reviewed submission when accepting an application for review. Although a new (A0) application does not allow an introduction or responses to the previous reviews, the NIH and AHRQ encourage applicants to refine and strengthen all application submissions. Please read the full announcement for more details on the background of this policy change and the policy details. The NIH time limit for accepting resubmission (A1) applications remains in effect, as does the policy for New Investigator R01 resubmission deadlines. Stephanie F. Scott, M.S., CRA

Additional Information for the two above mentioned announcements: This Notice alerts grantees to a change in the implementation timeline, previously announced in NOT-OD-13-120 and NOT-OD-14-093, for the NIH transition to new U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) payment policies for domestic, non-competing continuation awards and use of Payment Management System (PMS) subaccounts. It also announces a change in how competitive revisions/administrative supplements (Type-3s) awards will be processed. This Notice only applies to domestic non-competing continuation awards that have not yet transitioned to PMS subaccounts. In response to critical feedback from the grantee community, NIH requested an amendment to its subaccount implementation plan to delay the transition of domestic, non-competing continuation awards to PMS subaccounts for an additional year; e.g., now beginning October 1, 2015. HHS’s Office of the Assistant Secretary for Financial Resources recently approved the request. This additional time is provided to allow grantees to prepare their systems to accommodate the changes. Grantee with inadequate systems in place to appropriately manage this transition by October 1, 2015, may be unable to appropriately access PMS accounts and risk losing their ability to draw down funding. Grantees are advised that there will be no additional implementation delays considered and no exceptions granted to the deadline. As of October 1, 2015, NIH will utilize only subaccounts for awarding grant funds. Every grant that is awarded funding in FY 2016 (whether it be in the first, second, third or fourth quarter of FY 2016) will be in a subaccount. NIH will continue transitioning payment of grant awards with new document numbers to domestic institutions to PMS subaccounts in FY 2015 as announced in Notice NOT-OD-13-120. The administrative changes announced in NOT-OD-14-093 will now apply to the transition that will occur between October 1, 2015 and September 30, 2016. This Notice reiterates those administrative changes for non-competing, continuation awards and highlights the revised implementation timelines and T-3 award process for all domestic awards. - See more at: http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/notice-files/NOT-OD-14-103.html#sthash.0l3doSVZ.dpuf; http://grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/notice-files/NOT-OD-14-103.html#sthash.q3dTkMY2.dpuf;
FEDERAL FUNDING TRAVEL POLICY

[NIH-Investigators] New Policy on Fly America Act:
Sponsored Projects Administration (SPA) and the Accounts Payable (AP) department is happy to announce the release of an updated version of the Fly America Act policy, effective immediately. SPA and AP have partnered together on this effort, resulting in a clearer, more comprehensive policy to ensure compliance with the Fly America Act. You can find the full policy in the Administrative Policy Library at http://policylibrary.columbia.edu/fly-america-act. This link contains: * Full policy text, including links to resources; * FAQs; * A Decision Tree Diagram; * A new form, the Fly America Exception Checklist.; These resources can also be found on the SPA website at http://spa.columbia.edu/policies/us-flag-carrier-policy.

The Fly America Act is a Federal regulation that states that any foreign air travel that is financed by Federal funds must be booked on U.S. Flag Air Carriers, regardless of cost or convenience. Only Federally funded sponsored projects are subject to this policy. The Fly America Act is not a new policy. Rather, our offices updated our existing policies, which now live in a central location in the Policy Library.

There are specific exceptions to the Fly America Act that allow travelers to use Federal funds on foreign carriers, but only under certain circumstances. These exceptions can be quite complex to interpret. Therefore, our offices created a Fly America Exception Checklist and Decision Tree Diagram to assist travelers when booking flights internationally as part of the work to be done on a Federal sponsored project. In cases of exceptions, the Fly America Exception Checklist Form will need to accompany the Columbia Travel & Business Expense Report (TBER) to be submitted to AP. Appropriate back-up documentation should accompany the Checklist. The full policy and FAQs outline this process.

Anyone planning to travel internationally as part of work to be done on a Federally sponsored project is responsible for knowing and adhering to this policy. Please share this information with all faculty, administrators, postdocs and students who may be traveling internationally.

When questions arise that are related to the Fly America Act (for example, what is allowable vs. unallowable, Open Skies Agreement exceptions, etc.) you may contact your SPA Project Officer or myself. However, if you have specific questions about reimbursement of travel expenses or regarding your supporting travel documentation, you should contact AP through the Finance Service Center or call 212-854-2122. Thank you.

Thank you, Stephanie F. Scott, M.S., CRA: Communications and Outreach Director; Sponsored Projects; Administration (SPA); CUMC

Sponsor: Simons Foundation;
Deadline(s): Internal Proposal Deadline – 9:00 a.m. on Monday, August 18, 2014; Sponsor deadline – October 28, 2014;

Additional Information: WHAT: Mathematical model based approaches are making increasingly important contributions to the life sciences. The Mathematical Modeling of Living Systems (MMLS) program aims to support such approaches and to foster a scientific culture of theory-experiment collaboration similar to that prevailing in the physical sciences. To encourage young researchers to pursue this endeavor, MMLS will provide a long-term stable base of support, enabling a focus on model-based approaches to important issues in the life sciences. Appointments will begin August 1, 2015. An Investigator will receive research support in an amount initially set at $100,000 per year. An additional $10,000 per year will be provided to the Investigator’s department. The award is administered through the institution at which the Investigator is appointed, and this institution will receive 20 percent in indirect costs. PROGRAM EMPHASIS: A broad spectrum of research areas within the life sciences will be considered, ranging from cellular-level issues of organization, regulation, signaling and dynamics through morphogenesis to the properties of large organisms, as well as neuroscience and evolution. Preference will be given to areas in which modeling approaches are less well established, and for that reason bioinformatics and genomics will fall outside the scope of the program.; WHO: The following eligibility terms apply: () Candidates must be a scientist engaged in MMLS related research.; () Candidates must be in the early stages of their academic career (within 5 years of the start of the first assistant professor position).; (*) Former Simons Investigators are not eligible.; WHEN: Internal deadline – 9:00 a.m. on Monday, August 18, 2014; Sponsor deadline – October 28, 2014.; HOW: The internal proposal must be completed by the nominator with the following five parts. New for 2014 - CDMRP’s New Application Receipt System (eBRAP)

For FY14, CDMRP has replaced eReceipt with the electronic Biomedical Research Application Portal (eBRAP). As in the past, application submission is a two-step process requiring both (1) pre-application submission through the eBRAP (https://eBRAP.org/) and (2) application submission through Grants.gov (http://www.grants.gov/), with application status available on eBRAP. A key feature of eBRAP is that organizational representatives and Principal Investigators (PIs) will be able to view and modify their Grants.gov application submissions, but only if their organization, Business Officials and PIs are registered and affiliated in eBRAP to the organization listed in blocks 5 & 19 of the Grants.gov SF424. Submission of either the pre-application to eBRAP or the application to Grants.gov does not require registering an organization and affiliating its Business Officials and PIs in eBRAP; however, the ability to view and modify the Grants.gov application in eBRAP is contingent upon this registration and affiliation process.
